

Tell Your Business Story with Visual Dashboards & Reports

Your quality data has a story to tell, and RizePoint’s quality management software (QMS) empowers you to tell it. With built-in analytics and several options for visually presenting data, you’ll build dashboards for unique insights and deliver meaningful reporting to everyone in your business — from executives to location managers. Gain the power to build dashboards that give you daily insights, help decision makers gain transparency, and deliver reports to managers that help them take corrective action. It’s a higher level of business intelligence that only a comprehensive QMS can offer.

“We had no real data or way to collect data. Now we can see exactly why a location earned a specific score and use the data to make our business better. We can see how it affects our guests and how it affects our team members.”
